A message from Mind's Board of Directors concerning Mind's management of pandemic restrictions

On behalf of the Board of Directors of Mind I'd like to acknowledge the care and commitment our frontline workers have demonstrated over the past months through the incredibly challenging circumstances of this public health emergency.

We know how conscientiously they have worked to keep clients supported and connected while protecting them from infection. Our frontline team's work in these months has required endurance and flexibility, and placed an extra weight of concern upon them for their clients' wellbeing as changes have had to be made on their support routines.

Mind staff have had extraordinary success in shepherding our clients through the changes this pandemic have required and ensuring that our most vulnerable clients are identified and protected.

It hasn't been easy and we are confident their professionalism and commitment are widely recognised and appreciated.

We thank them for their fantastic work.

Melissa Field
Chair, Mind Board
